UPLAND, CA – FEBRUARY 21, 2008

Women's Medical Group of Upland, Inc. (WMGU) recently welcomed Dr. Lisa K. Chong, M.D. to their full service obstetrical and gynecological practice. Dr. Chong's background includes multiple academic awards and achievements, extensive work in local and worldwide communities, an obstetrics and gynecology residency at Kaiser Permanente in Santa Clara and a medical degree from prestigious Dartmouth Medical School. All of WMGU's physicians including Dr. Chong are currently accepting new patients.

Dr. Chong was specifically drawn to WMGU by the caliber of the physicians she would be working with at the group practice.

"When I met Dr. Easter and Dr. Rodrigues I immediately knew I would be working with fantastic colleagues," says Chong, adding, "I knew that I wanted to work with physicians who are driven to learn the newest innovations in our field."

"I have an interest in teen health and hope to extend my services to the education of the community in high schools, on the topic of teen health and sexuality," she says.

WMGU was founded in 1995 with a mission to promote the health and well being of women in a nurturing environment through supportive, compassionate, organized and committed care. The group serves approximately 40,000 clients from the Inland Empire and specializes in plastic vaginal surgery, the latest in-office sterilization procedures, and pelvic reconstructive procedures, all in an environment of warm and compassionate care.

The addition of Dr. Lisa Chong to WMGU will contribute to this progressive medical group's objective to stay continually educated about the latest products, technologies and procedures that will benefit women's health.
